

INSTITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF CONTEMPORARY ANTISEMITISM

Indiana University, Bloomington

Jean Yves Camus,

French Institute for International &
Strategic Affairs

Jews are demonized in France by the extreme right with traditional stereotypes and by the radical left in anti-Zionist forms. Dr. Camus will explain how fringe groups of the extreme right and parts of the far left find common ground in radical anti-Zionism, and what challenges this poses to the social democratic left.

The talk will be followed by a discussion on contemporary antisemitism in France, including antisemitism from Muslim communities, with Dr. Günther Jikeli.
